From W7ZK
I think this should be turned down. The tests are very easy to pass and seems that most just remember the question pool. I see no need for this to take place, and do not think this will help bring the level of amateur radio to a higher state. Just something for nothing!
A big NO!